

Table of Contents

About the Authors . . . . .	.vii
Acknowledgments . . . . .	ix
Foreword . . . . .	xi
Chapter 1 What Makes a Building Green? . . . . .	1
Chapter 2 Green Building Rating Systems . . . . .	17
Chapter 3 Understanding Green Building Design and Construction . . . . .	55
Chapter 4 Understanding Green Building Demand . . . . .	69
Chapter 5 Determining the Scope of Work. . . . .	89
Chapter 6 Market Analysis . . . . .	107
Chapter 7 Property and Site Analysis . . . . .	125
Chapter 8 Highest and Best Use Considerations . . . . .	155
Chapter 9 The Three Approaches to Value . . . . .	171
Chapter 10 Distributed Energy Generation . . . . .	227
Chapter 11 The Role of Incentives in Green Building Valuation . . . . .	261
Appendix A Green Feature Gallery . . . . .	277
Appendix B Commercial Green and Energy Efficient Addendum. . . . .	309
Index. . . . .	323