Please Note: These FAQs are intended to provide general information about the Appraisal Institute Continuing Education (CE) Program, and are not intended to provide complete information about AI CE requirements. Please refer to Regulation No. 10 for complete AI CE requirements. These FAQs may not include all information, options, requirements, and variations applicable to any particular person.

How many points do I need to complete my AI CE cycle?

Designated members (Required)

Designated members (required) need to earn 500 points per five-year Appraisal Institute continuing education cycle. These 500 points include credit for points earned for completing USPAP and AI Business Practices & Ethics.

Designated members (Recommended)

Designated members (recommended) need to complete USPAP, AI Business Practices & Ethics and a course, seminar, or passed examination that is valued at a point level of 150 or higher. Under the points system, if these Designated members complete the Standards and Ethics Requirements, as well as earn 500 points (in any combination they like), they would be considered Appraisal Institute “Continuing Education Program Completed”, and would NOT have to complete an specific item valued at 150 points (since they are doing all 500 points and completing the whole program).

Designated members who are on recommended status are strongly encouraged to complete the recommended 500 points, so that they may be listed in the Find an Appraiser Directory as “Continuing Education Program Completed.” Designated members (recommended), who choose not to fulfill the 500 points, will be considered “Continuing Education Program Not Completed,” and must affirm that they have not completed the continuing education program in their required certification statements.

How many times in a cycle can I take a USPAP course and receive AI CE?

According to Regulation No. 10, the Appraisal Institute will recognize three (3) USPAP courses within one cycle. USPAP is required for every five-year cycle. International Designated members and Practicing Affiliates may complete Introduction to International Valuation Standards Overview instead of USPAP.

Do I need to take the AI course, Business Practices and Ethics for AI CE requirements?

Yes. All Designated members and Practicing Affiliates must complete Appraisal Institute Business Practices and Ethics course during every five-year CE cycle.

What AI courses and seminars offer the highest point values?

In general, the Appraisal Institute awards five (5) points for one (1) hour of education (i.e., 100 hours = 500 points). That being said, Appraisal Institute also approves certain advanced courses and seminars for higher point values if they meet certain requirements. If you have completed a course, seminar, or have passed an exam you believe has advanced content, is on the AI Creditable Topics list, and is comparable to AI advanced education, you may submit for consideration to ce@appraisalinstitute.org.

AI Advanced Education Point Values

I hold multiple designations (i.e. MAI and SRA), so what point value will I earn if a program's residential point value differs from its general point value?

If you hold both a residential and a general designation, you will receive the general point value for advanced courses and seminars. If you hold a residential designation but not a general designation, you will receive the residential point value for advanced residential courses and seminars.

Do you accept CE credit for programs from outside providers?

Yes. The Appraisal Institute will accept continuing education from outside providers if the programs meet certain requirements. The topics covered in the continuing education must be on our list of AI Creditable Topics. Please review the creditable topics document for further details on what continuing education will qualify. If the education program meets the requirements from our Creditable Topics list, please add the education program into your AI CE Log. Please click: Add to my AI CE log. In general, the Appraisal Institute awards five (5) points for one (1) hour of education (i.e., 100 hours = 500 points).

- The points were earned during the last six (6) months of the current cycle; or
- The points that qualify as advanced education as approved by the ADQC were earned during the last twelve (12) months of the current cycle.

Carryover points must be entered by the Admissions and Continuing Education department. Please email course completion certificate for carryover to ce@appraisalinstitute.org or fax to (312) 335-4415.
