

Zaio Applauds Landmark Agreement

Likely to Have a Dramatic Impact on the Lending Industry

Scottsdale, AZ, March 3, 2008 – Zaio Corporation (TSX-V: ZAO) announced today its support of a landmark agreement that is likely to have a dramatic and positive impact on the mortgage lending industry.

Thomas Inserra, Zaio CEO, stated: “As a leading advocate for restoring the independence of appraisers, Zaio applauds this agreement which will help realign the way lenders engage appraisers. We congratulate the Attorney General of New York for initiating this historic policy shift involving, Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and the Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight (OFHEO).”

The details of the Agreement announced by those agencies today appears to contain new proposed banking policies scheduled to take effect 01/01/2009, including:

- Prohibits “...any act or practice that impairs or attempts to impair an appraiser’s independence, objectivity, or impartiality” and identifies at least 9 prohibited actions;
- Prevents the ordering of appraisals by third parties like mortgage brokers and realtors unless obtained either directly by the lender or third party management companies;
- Prohibits lenders from using internal staff appraisers, and appears to require lenders and title insurance companies to divest their appraisal subsidiaries;
- Lenders must certify, warrant and represent the appraisal report was prepared in a manner consistent with a new Code of Conduct known as the “Home Value Protection Program”.

Zaio is believed to be among the very few corporations not having affiliated business relationships with lenders or title insurance companies and is thus already in compliance with the new policies. The Company has recently built an “Appraisal Knowledge Warehouse™” database containing 140 million property records, and Zaio affiliated appraisers are now photographing, inspecting and appraising homes across America. Zaio’s independence, technology and database are starting to be viewed in the market as competitive strengths.

James Kirchmeyer, Chief Marketing Officer, said: “We believe the best way for lenders to ensure appraiser independence and comply with these new policies is to rely upon and leverage Zaio’s independence, appraiser expertise, and proprietary technology solutions that, to our knowledge, are not available from any other service provider.”

Details of the new policies and Agreement are contained on the Zaio website www.zaio.com under the investor section.
